

Are you treating drivers with the respect they deserve?

The Canadian Trucking Alliance in conjunction with provincial trucking associations launched National Trucking Week to bring awareness to the critical role truck drivers play in our economy and to stress the importance of fair and equal treatment throughout the entire trucking industry.

This year, we will be celebrating the Canadian driving force of over 400,000 men and women for the week of Sunday, September 1st - Saturday, September 7th. And, although this celebration lasts only one week, we need to ensure we are treating each and every truck driver with the utmost respect, year-round.
